

Hand Pattern

This art project is inspired by the artwork January 1971 by Frank Lobdell in the Anderson Collection. He is a part of the Bay Area Figurative Movement, painting the figure with an emphasis on shape, light, and shadow. This project aims to emulate this artist's ideas with materials from home.

List of Supplies: paper, pencil, coloring implements

1: On a sheet of paper trace your hand.

2: Move your hand to a new position and trace again. Repeat a third time if you wish.

3: Within each new shape created from the hand tracings, fill in each part with a color or pattern of your choosing such as hearts, shamrocks, or basic shapes.

Tip: Share your artwork on social media with #MuseumFromHome and tag us with @anderson.collection.stanford